

Is Your Business Infringing on the Intellectual Property in Other Companies' Logos?

If you have third party logos posted on your website, have you ever considered whether or not you are infringing on the third party's intellectual property rights by displaying those logos on your site? If not, perhaps this is something you should consider, as the Silicon Valley IP Licensing Blog explains in the following blog post link:

<http://www.siliconvalleyiplicensinglaw.com/is-your-business-infringing-on-the-intellectual-property-in-other-companies-logos/>